Connect in real again

Spoken: According to a new study, the average time spent with electronic media amounts to 7 1/2 hours every day". Wow, what a waste, that's quite the same time that we spend sleeping, imagine the change if some of that time was used wiser ....

Have you ever noticed, when driving the subway?
Sitting on an airplane or in a hotel lobby
Nobody's talking, no one's looking in each other's eyes
Just starring at their phones, their tablets, and PC's

All those eyes we haven't connected to,
All those people we haven't spoken to
All those stories we haven't gone through
The essence of life that's what we miss, what a waste of time,

Open your eyes, at our homes it's quite the same
In the morning Apple breakfast, reading I-pad news,
She's checking online discounts with some Twitter in-between
And the kids with their headphones are lost in a Youtube stream.

All those eyes we haven't connected to,
All those people we haven't spoken to
All those stories we haven't lived through
The essence of life that's what we miss, what a waste of time, this actually is ...

Some of this time could be wiser spent,
Look into someone's eyes, and connect in real again,
Stop wasting time connect in real again ...
Stop wasting time live in real again ...

All those eyes that we will connect to All those people that we will be speaking to All those learning's, from those stories we 'lived through
The payback is huge, not measured in time,
But magic returns, we connect in real again,
we connect in real again, connect in real again
